

resolution that comes from Nebraska is not binding on those people out east. And you all know that when Nebraska gets there, Nebraska is not going to have any clout. Nebraska is not known for its cultural life, it's not known for if we want to specify art, music, literature, nothing. Why should they respect anybody from Nebraska? Why should they respect anybody who would sign a resolution like this, open-ended, giving carte blanche? And when the representatives from Nebraska go out there, they will be out-voted on everything. Then they will come whining back here and say, well, what did you expect? You thought we could go out there and fight the big boys. Then why didn't you at least make a clear declaration of what your intentions were when you went? Even if they don't turn out the way you would like, you have stated your position, but that's not to be done. What I wish some of these little editors in these little newspapers would do is pull some of the senators aside and say, explain to me what you voted for. What have you put Nebraska into? What is this corporation? I never heard of such a thing before. Show me any other time when Nebraska was a part of a corporation. And then maybe they'll think about Commonwealth, and although Nebraska wasn't, they'll say the only other time I know they stole money from people and didn't want to pay them back. Is that what this is? Are you going to give away the powers of the state? The people out in your districts are not going to be as kind and nice to you as the Governor and these others are who are telling you to vote for this and don't worry about it. If it's something that's not that important, why do they have to formalize it in this way and put the whip to you all and make you do this? What have they...what have they offered you? What did they promise you? They promise you pork. Well, you know the barrel is almost empty. Senator McKenzie almost has to beg to get a little help for ethanol, and that's for you all's part of the world. So what are they going to give you, besides a kick in the pants? When have they ever shown any respect for you after they got from you what they needed? They give you the back of the hand. They don't care about the Legislature. And why should they? Do you think that if some big shots decide that proposals are going to come out of that conference and that this Legislature should ratify them, do you think this Legislature will stand up to them? And you say, I hope so. Like they stood up to ConAgra, like they stood up to Micron, that's how they're going to stand up. They should be born in Australia so that what is up is really down and what is down is up, then when they stand down...when they're standing up they're really on their head, then they might can say what
